As the Syria conflict enters its fourth year, the number of refugees fleeing Syria has now surpassed the number of refugees originating from Afghanistan. Hundreds, sometimes thousands, of Syrians continue to flee their country daily and the UN projects that the number of refugees from Syria could increase to 4.1 million by the end of 2014.